

People constantly tell us about the impact of not getting medication on time in hospital – stress, anxiety, immobility, severe tremors. Nearly two-thirds of people living with Parkinson's didn't consistently get their medication on time in hospital.

Unfortunately, the majority of hospitals just don't comprehend the urgency of getting medication on time, every time.

When you sign our petition, you're calling on the NHS to urge hospital trusts and health boards to introduce 15-minute mandatory Parkinson's training. They'll learn how important it is to Get It On Time.
